"You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart,

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass ©2001, 1996, 1970 CCD. ©LPI

We, The Together in Christ Collaborative of St. Ann and St. John the Evangelist, welcome and engage all ages to become the disciples that Jesus is calling all of us to be. United by faith and in the Celebration of the Mass, we embrace the call of Jesus to live our mission to "Go forth and make disciples." Through evangelization, education, and by the empowerment of the Holy Spirit, we will grow together as One Body of Christ.

A NOTE FROM THE PASTOR

My Dear Friends in Christ,

As most of you know by now, I have a great love of bumper stickers; I tend to “pass the time” by reading the bumper stickers I come across while stuck in traffic (which, unfortunately, happens all too often!). One that caught my eye a while back read “If God Had Wanted Us To Be Permissive, He Would Have Given Us ‘The Ten Suggestions’”! As I’ve often said, they’re called “commandments” for a reason – we are commanded, by God, to follow them; we are not only called to follow the letter of the law, however, but also the spirit of the law as well. This is the point of today’s gospel.

Jesus is being challenged, first by the Sadducees and now by the Pharisees. Jesus is asked to name the greatest Commandment - of the 613 “mitzvahs” (or commandments) in Jewish Law...and you thought we had it tough with ten! In doing so, Jesus would be then accused of giving precedence to one over the other 612 and thus giving an “order of importance”. He avoids this “trap” set by the Pharisees by not naming any one Commandment, but by summing up all of them. Jesus does this with what will/has become known, in salvation history, as “The Great Commandment” – to love God and to love one’s neighbor. Jesus not only puts these Commandments in their proper light, but all of the Law and the Prophets as well; in doing this, Jesus honors both the letter and the spirit of the law and “cements” His role as the fulfillment of the Law and Prophets.

Laws are important; they help govern, guide and direct. Laws give people and society a way of keeping order. Laws, however, cannot be either respected or adhered to if they do not take into account a way of living them out. There are many laws in the legal system which are challenging for Catholic-Christians to follow; they may, in fact, be in direct violation of God’s law(s). One can look at laws and practices regarding abortion, the death penalty and euthanasia (so called “death with dignity” laws) and see that they violate the commandment “thou shall not kill”. When one sees such a “civil” law/practice, the Catholic-Christian must take their own (well-formed) conscience into account as to how much they can follow that in light of “God’s Law”. One must recognize the (civil) consequences of disobeying that (civil) law and decide how willing they are to face punishment. One can only look at the early Christians for guidance in this matter; the early Christians were unafraid to face physical torture, incarceration and even death to “hold fast” to the ecclesiastical law they were called to follow.

May we pray for guidance in following God’s law(s). May we know that when we adhere to the Commandments that “our reward will be great in heaven”. May we have the courage to face mocking, derision and even civil punishment in light of this adherence. May God see all that we do, be steadfast in His love for us and instill in us courage to face, and overcome, any obstacle that the Evil One may put in our way.

Have a Blessed Week,

Fr. Paul

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

In today's gospel, the Pharisees try (unsuccessfully) to trap Jesus with the Commandments by choosing the "greatest" one. This would be like asking a parent to choose a favorite child, something which is impossible (one would hope!). When we used to ask my mother who her favorite was, she would say "I love you all the same, I just love you differently"; we stopped asking my father this question when he told one of us that "I don't have a favorite because I hate you all equally" (HE WAS KIDDING!).

St. Francis, in his "Letter to the Faithful" speaks of the need for the Commandments, even quoting Jesus as is written in the gospel (from today). St. Francis tells his followers: "Those who do not wish to taste how sweet the Lord is and who love the darkness more than the light, not wishing to fulfill God's commands, are cursed; it is said of them by the prophet: Cursed are those who stray from your commands. But how happy and blessed are those who love God and do as the Lord Himself says in the Gospel: You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself."

Let us love God, therefore, and adore Him with a pure heart and a pure mind, because He who seeks this above all things has said: True adorers adore the Father in Spirit and Truth. For all who adore Him must adore Him in the Spirit of truth. And day and night let us direct praises and prayers to Him, saying: Our Father, Who art in heaven . . . for we should pray always and not become weary." ("Letter to the Faithful", St. Francis of Assisi).

One might be surprised that St. Francis uses such strong language, calling those who do not follow the Commandments "cursed". He quotes the Psalmist here as well, saying that one is cursed who strays from the Commandments. As you've often heard me say (in quoting a oft-seen bumper sticker) "If God had wanted us to be permissive, He would have given us the "Ten SUGGESTIONS" (emphasis added). The Commandments are strong because they needed to be to keep the Israelites (and, I dare say, us) in line in their sojourn in the desert. St. Francis often had to "corral" his followers, especially when they strayed from the intent and mission of the Order. I would be willing to bet that his use of strong words here (such as "cursed") would not have surprised the readers of this letter who knew (and strove to follow) him.

May we have the courage to follow the Commandments, not taking them as mere "suggestions" but as a blueprint on how to live as a follower of Christ.

Peace and All Good,

Fr. Paul, OFS
