12TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

He woke up, rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, "Quiet! Be still!"
 The wind ceased and there was great calm. Then he asked them,
 "Why are you terrified? Do you not yet have faith?" - Mk 4:39-40

Prayer for Inner Peace

Jesus,

Speak your command of “Quiet! Be still!” into the dark recesses of my mind — my fears, concerns, and anxieties. Be with me, at every moment, no matter the storm. Fix my eyes upon you. Amen.

12TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

MASSES FOR THE WEEK

My Dear Friends in Christ,

After a trio of “special” holy days (Pentecost, Trinity Sunday, Corpus Christi) which transition us out of the Easter Season, we find ourselves back in Ordinary Time. As I’ve said on occasion, Ordinary Time isn’t so named because there’s nothing “special” about it. It is given this designation because these are the weeks that are marked by number (from the Latin, ordinalis (numbered)). Truth be told, there is nothing ordinary about what we do here; it is an extraordinary thing to gather as a people of faith each Sunday to worship the Lord. It is a remarkable act of faith to come to believe, profess and live the truth that Jesus has come into the world to give us salvation and that by this act we are redeemed. This past Easter Season was an opportunity to renew our faith and trust in the plan God has for humanity. Hopefully the upcoming spring and summer months will provide an opportunity to further reflect on this goodness of God. We may take a break from studies, from work or from other such day to day activities, but we must never take a vacation from our faith life! Each and every day we have a chance to reflect on and act upon the plan God has for us.

We can, in this reflection, get lost in our own “issues”; we can, as the saying goes, “lose the forest for the trees”. This is the problem of the disciples in today’s gospel passage. They get so caught up in the storm that they forget that Jesus is in their midst. As He rebukes the sea to be quiet (much in the way that He would silence a demon), Jesus shows His mastery and power over even the elements. There is nothing outside the power and purview of Jesus, nothing that He can’t handle. The disciples don’t get it though; they see, believing to some degree, but don’t fully comprehend what is happening. This is, for the disciples in the boat (as well as the hearer/reader of the gospel passage) a test of faith. If they cannot see how Jesus has control over the elements, then how can they (we) see His power over all things? This gospel passage gives an opportunity for all involved (in the passage as well as you and I) to “cement” their belief in the power of God in Christ Jesus.

There comes a point in all of our lives when our faith is tested. At those times, we look within ourselves to see where God is in those moments. It could be like the “Footprints” story that, at our weakest, God was carrying us. It could be that we, like Job (in our first reading), are “tested” by God in spite of our doubt, to help us to realize how truly faithful we are to God’s plan. God does have a plan, despite the shape of our world - which, truth be told, is as much our own doing as anything else (i.e. wars, famine, “man’s inhumanity to man”)! We must be careful not to “lose the forest for the trees”, forgetting that God’s plan is for eternity, not just the here and now. As challenging as this is (to live in eternity), it can be done. We must attune our hearts and minds to live in the surety of God’s love, for it is with this love that all can be accomplished. May we have faith in God’s plan, hope in the coming of the Kingdom and love for all that God has in store for us. May we trust that, despite the challenges inherent in Christian living, we have a future in God’s Kingdom (both here on Earth, as well as the one to come). In this way, we can share this plan of Eternal Life with all whom we meet!

Have a Blessed Week,
Fr. Paul

We have a special guest arriving in July who needs a room to rent for two weeks.

Fr. Peter Francis's niece who is a Neurologist is coming to the states to Work in Cincinnati.

She will be arriving two weeks early to spend time with her uncle.

Does anyone have a spare room to rent to her?

Father Francis would be very grateful.

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

In our first reading on the 12th Sunday in Ordinary Time, we hear a conversation that Job is having with God. Job has always stood as a figure in scripture who is constantly being tested but who remains faithful, despite the seemingly impossible situations through which Job has to navigate. I can always remember my mother saying that some people “have the patience of Job”, referring to that aforementioned fidelity marked by his patience.

Throughout his life, St. Francis of Assisi faced many challenges, both on personal and professional “fronts”, which he had to overcome. Like Job, St. Francis did it by trusting in God as these obstacles came into play in his life. What were some of these challenges?

Firstly, there was his time as a soldier, when he was seen as a leader among the men of Assisi. During the campaign against Perugia in 1202, in which he was held prisoner for almost a year, St. Francis’ mettle was tested. After this campaign, and after his release, he fell seriously ill. Secondly, He engaged in two pilgrimages to the Holy Land, both of which failed miserably which caused him to question his movement into religious life. Finally, at the end of his days, he faced the loss of his sight which might have devastated many others, but which St. Francis saw as a way to grow closer to the Lord.

You are no doubt familiar with the expression “God never gives you more than you can handle”. Since speaking with one of my “mentors” years ago, I have come to “adjust” that saying to read “God never gives you more than HE (that is, God) can handle”. Both Job and St. Francis, when faced with adversity and seemingly insurmountable odds never gave up, but rather gave themselves over to the will of God. And this made all the difference.

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Paul, OFS

Perhaps you have noticed the improved appearance of the gardens surrounding St. John’s Church. This has been accomplished by a few dedicated parishioners whose mission is to beautify our church. Every plant donated at Easter has been planted in the church yard with the hope of their return next spring. With the help of a few more people, we can accomplish so much more.

This is your church. Let us work together to make improvements that will beautify our place of worship.

If you are willing to help, please contact the collaborative office 508-378-4207 or Janet DiFalco at 508-596-7471.

Waking God

A show of hands, ladies and gentlemen. Have any of you been given the silent treatment and had absolutely no idea why?

On the flipside, have any of you have sworn you’re not going to demean yourself by explaining, for the thousandth time, that you need extra help with the kids before soccer practice, or that you feel ignored when your spouse doesn’t ask how your day went?

But sadly, love doesn’t give you the ability to read minds. And in the end, we learn the lesson again and again, we have to verbalize our feelings, our needs, our wants. Expecting your partner to anticipate your needs is guaranteed to end badly.

It’s the same with God, even though, oddly enough, He does have the ability to read minds. But He still desires us to explain ourselves to Him, doesn’t He? “I’m feeling scared of this.” “I’m really worried about that.” “God, I think I need x, y and z. Help me. Please.”

Jesus slept on that boat, as it was tossed and turned by the waves, until his disciples woke him. “Why were you sleeping?” they ask. Well, geniuses, he was sleeping because they hadn’t woken him up yet. They had wasted time cowering in fear, waiting for him to act. They gave him the silent treatment and they didn’t even know it.

God doesn’t desire us to verbalize our needs as a way of keeping us submissive. He’s not that petty. What He desires is the communication — that’s what really counts. That act of opening yourself up, of becoming vulnerable, of relying on Him, trusting Him. If it feels like God is asleep in your life, ask yourself this, have you tried waking Him up?

Coming Back to Church

Question:

I have been away from the Church for a few years and really want to get active again, not so much for me, but for my children. Is this a bad reason to come back to Church?

Answer:

If you are on your way to the supermarket, and you are forced to detour from your usual route because of road work, does the food you buy taste different? Is the meal less filling? Are the vegetables less tasty? Of course not. In our faith journey, there are many detours called sin. Some are greater than others, some are even a bit longer. But God's grace comes to us in ways we understand and recognize and need. Your children leading you back to the Church is not as important as the fact that you are back.

This is an opportunity for you to renew, strengthen, and deepen your faith. Regardless of how we get to Church, or what draws us closer to God, the fact is we are there. Do what you need to do to get right with God and the Church. Go to confession, begin good family religious practices, and be involved in the ministries your parish offers. Be more than a lukewarm parishioner. Be the kind of Catholic you want your children to be.
