Washington D.C., Jul 30, 2018 CNA.- A Novena for the Legal Protection of Human Life is being led by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. Catholics are being encouraged to take part ahead of the Senate confirmation hearings for Judge Brett Kavanaugh’s nomination to the Supreme Court.

The novena will be prayed each Friday between August 3 and September 28. The initiative is part of the USCCB’s ongoing Call to Prayer for Life, Marriage, and Religious Liberty.

Every Friday, those who have signed up to the Call to Prayer program will receive the day’s prayer intentions by email or text message.

Senate confirmation hearings are set to begin in September, and there are expectations that Kavanaugh could be confirmed by the time the Supreme Court begins its next session in October. Kavanaugh’s nomination was welcomed by Catholics and pro-life groups who hope he could form part of a majority on the court in favor of overturning controversial abortion decisions like Roe v. Wade.

Roe, along with the companion decision in the case Doe v. Bolton, found a legal right to abortion throughout all nine months of pregnancy, regardless of circumstances.

My Dear Friends in Christ,

In most parts of the world, bread is a “staple” in one’s diet; there’s a reason that it is called “the staff of life”, for it provides one with basic sustenance and allows one to survive. There is also a comfort that comes from eating bread, probably because it is so filling and allows us to be fed in a very simple way.

This is really what is at the heart of today’s readings. Bread (manna, actually, which is bread-like in taste) plays a key part in the Israelites journey, for it sustains them on the way to the Promised Land. They had been starving to this point, not only hungry for food but for a sign that God was with them. This gift from God shows to them that God is caring for them, for the manna that they receive comes from Heaven and is derived from God’s goodness to His people. It feeds them both physically and spiritually, and allows them to carry on in their journey of faith. This is what the Eucharist does for us; it’s bread-like quality might feed us physically, but more important is the way that it feeds us spiritually. The real presence of Jesus is in the Eucharist; it is not a sign or symbol which we are receiving, but the actual Body of Christ. This spiritual “feeding”, which the Israelites receive in the desert, is one we experience at the Eucharistic table.

This leads into the “culmination” of God’s plan to feed His people, found in Jesus Christ. Today’s gospel passage is taken from John’s sixth chapter, which is often referred to as the “Bread of Life Discourse”. Throughout this chapter, the gospel writer makes reference to Jesus as the “Bread of Life” (as he does in this passage today). Jesus, in this chapter, looks back at the Israelites journey in the desert led by Moses. Jesus remarks how the source of the manna was not Moses, but God the Father. In doing so, Jesus establishes the relationship He has with the Father by “linking” Himself to that event. The people ask Jesus for the bread from heaven; Jesus, for His part, declares Himself as the “Bread of Life” (Jn 6:35). In doing so, Jesus establishes both Himself as the Messiah (which “comes down from heaven and gives life to the world” (Jn 6:33)), and the giver of Eucharist, for it is in Holy Communion that we receive the body, blood, soul and divinity of Jesus Christ.

May we always hunger for this Bread from Heaven. May we come to know and experience Jesus as the Bread of Life. May we trust that Jesus will always keep us fed and close to the Father. May we as a people of faith, in becoming “living tabernacles”, take the Body of Christ we have received at the Eucharistic table and share it with the world.

Have a Blessed Week,

Fr. Paul

Reflection

Indifference toward religion, coupled with a love for material comfort, seem to be common signs of our times. A person from another planet observing us would not likely judge us to be pilgrim people, on our way to somewhere else. John Vianney on the other hand, was a man on a journey, with his goal before him at all times.

Saint John Vianney is the Patron Saint of:
Priests — August 4th is his obligatory memorial.

Consecration to Jesus through Mary

“It is through the most Blessed Virgin Mary that Jesus Christ came into the world, and it is also through her that he will reign in the world.”

That’s St. Louis de Montfort teaching about the relationship between devotion to the Queen of Apostles and devotion to her son Jesus Christ: the more one is consecrated to Mary, he argues, the more one is consecrated to Jesus.

by Jeannette de Beauvoir

“Our entire perfection,” he writes, “consists in being conformed, united and consecrated to Jesus Christ. Hence the most perfect of all devotions is undoubtedly that which conforms, unites and consecrates us most perfectly to Jesus Christ. Now, since Mary is of all creatures the one most conformed to Jesus Christ, it follows that among all devotions that which most consecrates and conforms a soul to our Lord is devotion to Mary, his Holy Mother, and that the more a soul is consecrated to her the more will it be consecrated to Jesus Christ.”

Like Mary, de Montfort experienced challenges in his efforts to follow Jesus. Opposed at times in his preaching as well as in his other ministries, he knew that “neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but only God, who causes the growth” (1 Corinthians 3:7). He understood clearly that any attempt to succeed by worldly standards runs the risk of betraying the Good News of Jesus, and that challenges are an integral part of the journey, whether to Calvary, the resurrection, or the Kingdom of God.

Mary is “the first and most perfect disciple,” as Sulpician Raymond Brown described her. And as such, she is most clearly and truly the Mother of Apostles. The end of de Montfort’s Marian devotion is “being conformed, united and consecrated to Jesus.”

WASHINGTON (CNS) -- Attorney General Jeff Sessions spoke about ongoing threats to religious freedom and what can be done to halt them at a conference held July 30 at the Department of Justice.

"Let's be frank. A dangerous movement is now challenging and eroding our great devotion to religious freedom. It must be confronted, both intellectually and politically, and defeated," he said.

"In recent years, the cultural climate in this country has become less hospitable to people of faith. Americans from a wide variety of backgrounds are concerned about what this changing culture means for the future of religious liberty."

While Sessions provided no vision of what the world might look like if the culture continued to change, he said that "I believe that this unease among the American people is one reason President Donald Trump was elected."

That election, Sessions said, will aid the cause of religious liberty.

"The last election gives us a rare opportunity to arrest these trends, and this president and this Department of Justice are determined to advance our magnificent heritage of freedom of religion."

He also outlined what he thought was important to religious liberty.

"The government has no business telling the Little Sisters of the Poor that they need to buy an insurance policy that violates their religious beliefs," he said. "Free exercise means both the right to act and the right to abstain from acting."

The Gospel tells us "This is my beloved Son. Listen to him." By "listening" we are able to live the gospel. Gospel living is something so simple as taking the time to listen to those who need to spill out their hearts when seeking help.

Through your gift to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul you enable the members of the Society to become a "listening heart" to the hungry, the homeless and the struggling poor.

Call the St. Vincent de Paul HOTLINE at 508- 378-3760 if you need food or other assistance.

The Food Pantry is open twice a month. You are always welcome to stop by during Food Pantry hours on the 1st Monday from 3:00-6:00 pm and the 3rd Monday from 3:00-4:30 pm.

Saint John Vianney's Story

Patron Saint of: Priests

A man with vision overcomes obstacles and performs deeds that seem impossible. John Vianney was a man with vision: He wanted to become a priest. But he had to overcome his meager formal schooling, which inadequately prepared him for seminary studies.

His failure to comprehend Latin lectures forced him to discontinue. But his vision of being a priest urged him to seek private tutoring. After a lengthy battle with the books, John was ordained.

Situations calling for "impossible" deeds followed him everywhere. As pastor of the parish at Ars, John encountered people who were indifferent and quite comfortable with their style of living. His vision led him through severe fasts and short nights of sleep.

With Catherine Lassagne and Benedicta Lardet, he established La Providence, a home for girls. Only a man of vision could have such trust that God would provide for the spiritual and material needs of all those who came to make La Providence their home.

His work as a confessor is John Vianney's most remarkable accomplishment. In the winter months he was to spend 11 to 12 hours daily reconciling people with God. In the summer months this time was increased to 16 hours. Unless a man was dedicated to his vision of a priestly vocation, he could not have endured this giving of self day after day.

Many people look forward to retirement and taking it easy, doing the things they always wanted to do but never had the time. But John Vianney had no thoughts of retirement. As his fame spread, more hours were consumed in serving God's people. Even the few hours he would allow himself for sleep were disturbed frequently by the devil.

Who, but a man with vision, could keep going with ever-increasing strength? In 1929, Pope Pius XI named him the patron of parish priests worldwide.
