NOTES FROM THE PASTOR

My Dear Friends in Christ,

Today's gospel often takes folks aback at Jesus' commentary on His own "parable of the dishonest steward". Jesus seemingly praises the worker for using "earthly" means to deal with his imminent dismissal from the employ of the rich man, even to the point of using (seemingly) unscrupulous means. I say, "seemingly" (twice, for emphasis) because one has to look beneath the surface to get at the "heart" of the parable and its meaning. Stewards, those (in Jesus' day) who were put in charge of large households of rich people, were known to take a "cut" of anything that came into the house (goods, money, property) for themselves. It was a way to augment their salary which often times wasn't that great; it was an accepted policy for them to do this, and even their employers would turn a "blind eye" to this practice. The rich man in today's gospel is letting the steward go for squandering his property, thus losing money for him.

Jesus goes on to praise the steward for going to his master's debtors and cutting the invoice by twenty and fifty percent. In doing this, he was essentially taking out his "cut", giving all money back to his master. In doing this, the steward would win back esteem (and his job!) from his master. The steward's cunning comes in knowing how the world operates. He uses the tools of the world to further his career. Jesus uses this practice to teach His disciples how to live and act in the world. We must be aware of how the world operates, for we cannot "absent" ourselves from it. This is not to say that we should act in this way, but just be aware of it. We are always to live in the world, but not of the world. Our focus must always be the Kingdom, regardless of our physical placement in the world. Jesus reminds us that "no servant can serve two masters" (Lk 16:13); that servant will always have a divided heart. Our focus, in serving God, must be singular – on the Kingdom. We would do well, however, to know and be aware of how the world operates.

May we always "have our eyes on the prize", namely Eternal Life. May we always trust that God, our divine Master, is aware of our good works and will, one day, be ready to reward us in our goodness. May our faith sustain us, our purpose be sure and our fidelity be single-minded/hearted. May we, one day, see the Kingdom and hear those words from Almighty God: "well done, good and faithful servant, share in your Master's joy" (Mt 25:23)

Have a Blessed Week,

Fr. Paul

MY FRANCISCAN JOURNEY

Next month on October 4th, Franciscans around the world will celebrate the Feast of St. Francis. Francis is one of those saints who continues to capture the hearts and minds of all people of faith, not just Catholics (in general) or Franciscans (in particular). This feast is celebrated in earnest, with Masses, festivals, and the traditional “Blessing of the Animals” (which we here in the Collaborative will celebrate on October 4th at 12:00 at St. John’s ).

Though fewer Catholics know about it, St. Francis’ death is also memorialized every year. Transitus, which means “passage” in Latin, is an annual Oct. 3 evening service in which Franciscans mark the passing of the founder of their order. We as Catholics have the Mass of Resurrection to mark the immediate passing of a loved one. Often times we celebrate Anniversary Masses of one form or another (after a month, a year, or some increment of that time which has passed). St. Francis was canonized just two years after his death in 1226, and Franciscan friars have celebrated the Transitus since the 13th century.

The services for the Transitus vary from one community to the next, but they often includes a reenactment or recitation of the story of the saint’s death; a reading of John 13:1-17, the Washing of the Disciples’ Feet, which St. Francis requested read on his deathbed; and the singing of the “Canticle of the Sun,” the song that Francis is believed to have completed in his final days. Transitus services also usually include another tradition which I find particularly appealing...the baking and sharing of delicious almond cookies—St. Francis’ favorite. Blessed Jacoba of Settesoli, a Roman noble woman, would often bring these cookies to her friend, Francis. He asked for them as he lay dying, surrounded by friends.

If you are a “Friend of Francis”, I would invite you to celebrate not only the Feast of Francis (10/4), but also the Transitus as well. It is important to remember not only how those we love and wish to remember lived, but also how they died. St. Francis died with a grace and peace that all hope for and few achieve. His death, and how it is commemorated, is an important reminder that to die with Christ (as Francis did) is also to live with Him – in God’s Kingdom of Eternal Love and Peace. Happy Transitus!

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Paul, OFS

If anyone in the parishes has the ability to paint the white areas, (not the steeples) of St. John’s, help is truly needed.

We are hoping to form a Committee that would be on-going throughout the year with the ultimate purpose of coming up with creative ideas to help raise money for worthy projects; We need helpers to brainstorm ideas and then to help occasionally with the activities.

Please call the offices if you are interested in helping. Or you can reach out at mass when you see anyone of us. Bring a friend. The more the merrier.

The final total of money raised for Fr. Stephen’s St. Benedict’s Boys Dormitory was $6044. That was made up of a combination of St. John’s and St. Ann’s and outside donations from friends of his . Thank you for your continued generosity!

Is any one handy making wooden creations? We are in need of wood framed screens to put in the windows of St. John’s to keep out the bees. The screens can be placed in the windows and the windows lowered to keep them in place. Please call 508-378-4207

On September 9th, we had to call an exterminator to remove two huge hornet nests. One from the back door of the St. John Rectory and the other from just under the Sacristy window. This will be about a $300 bill. Everyday brings new challenges.

PRAYER OF SEASONS

As I face what the future holds, be with me.
As I seek the beauty to be found today, help me to find you there.
